Student Services

Financial Aid

Need help to pay for college? Our financial aid office is here for you. We have a number of grants and scholarships, many that don't need to be repaid, to set you on your path to academic and financial success. We will get you connected to the funds you need. We've got you covered!

Child Development Center

Want to build a bright, secure future for your family? Bring your babies, toddlers and preschoolers to our Child Development Center while you earn credits toward your degree. We offer quality childcare services for students, staff, faculty, and community members. As a Saddleback College student, you will have priority registration for childcare services.

Health Services

Healthy students are successful students. The Student Health Center is here to serve our students' physical and mental health needs. They can access short-term individual mental health therapy, counseling for couples and families, and crisis intervention. We provide confidential treatment with the goal of helping students achieve their personal, academic and life goals no matter what their culture, ethnicity, race, age or lifestyle. We are here to help. Hungry students can take advantage of the Student Health Center Food Bank for assistance as well.

VETS Center

You're new to the civilian world — now what? Transitioning out of the armed services can be hard. We understand — let us help. The Veterans Education and Transition Services (VETS) Program is here to provide you with the direct support you need. Active military personnel, veterans and their loved ones are eligible to use the VETS Center Services. We offer guidance, counseling, scholarship and financial aid assistance, and more. Join us for events that help you reintegrate into civilian and college life.

Lauren Maynard

What is your major?

As a passionate Sociology major at Saddleback, I am enthusiastic about venturing into this discipline because of how it focuses on society's most pressing challenges.

What are your long-term goals?

While attending Princeton, the never-ending hours working on my junior and senior projects will prepare me to address societal problems like class, race, and gender inequality. Sociology allows me to build the necessary skills and network to lead large-scale social change, engage my inner helper, and transition into professional pursuits in service of society's most vulnerable.

Are you involved in clubs/organizations on campus?

Phi Theta Kappa Honors Society.

What made you choose Saddleback?

In 2012, I resigned from High School to help supplement my mother's income. In 2015, I regained my independence and achieved my Adult High School Diploma. As a first-generation student, I lacked academic guidance. In 2019 my fiancé overcame his non-traditional status by transferring into an Ivy League institution from Saddleback College. What once seemed inaccessible suddenly seemed possible. I enrolled in Saddleback with high ambitions and in the Spring of 2021, I will be the first in my family to obtain my associate degree for transfer.

As a first-generation low-income honors student, I have exceeded all expectations, overcome adversity, and hope to continue to inspire others. I believe this captures my greatest strengths, from having a growth mindset to persevering from any circumstance in life.

Preston Hong

What is your major?

Mechanical Engineering with a focus in Product Design.

How did Saddleback help you achieve your long-term goals?

At Saddleback, I have grown as a student both in and out of the classroom. By taking a variety of challenging courses, I have developed a wholistic academic foundation that will allow me to succeed in upper division engineering courses. Furthermore, I have fostered lifelong friendships with both my professors and peers who have helped me along the way. Saddleback has provided me with the necessary skills and relationships to achieve my goal of becoming a successful entrepreneur and innovator.

What did you enjoy most about your time at Saddleback College?

I have really enjoyed building relationships with my professors and faculty over the past two years. I have gotten to share my life experiences with them and have sometimes spent hours talking about our common interests, be it in engineering or the humanities. Whenever I am faced with a difficulty, I know I can approach my professors to talk things through and get help to ultimately overcome that obstacle. I look forward to keeping in touch with my professors and letting them know how I am doing in the future. I hope to make them proud as I continue on my academic journey.

Are you involved in athletics, arts, clubs/organizations on campus?

I am a member and a captain of the Saddleback track and field team, Director of the Honors Student Council part of Saddleback ASG, the Vice President of Leadership for the Phi Theta Kappa Honors Society, and a member of the Saddleback College robotics team.

What are your career goals?

I aspire to help others through technological innovations. Although I don't have a clear cut path to help me reach this goal, I am confident that if I pursue my passions wholeheartedly I will be able to do so. I hope to invent products that will help a variety of people, making their lives easier and better.

I will be transferring to UC Berkeley and furthering my education with a master's degree. I anticipate the challenges ahead and hope to hone my skill set to help me achieve the impossible.

Rosanna Burgos Pujols

What is your major?

Biology.

How did you feel Saddleback helped you achieve your long-term goals?

Saddleback has helped me achieve my long-term goals by giving me opportunities to improve my soft skills and grow as a student. I have taken classes that developed my love for research and science and strengthened my passion for psychology and the brain. I also have been able to find my leadership style, strengthen my research, communication skills, work as a team, and become more involved in the campus community by being involved in Saddleback's Phi Theta Kappa Chapter.

What did you enjoy most about your time at Saddleback College?

What I enjoyed the most about my time at Saddleback was its diverse and welcoming community. I have met amazing people who have encouraged me to keep going with my goals and have taught me different perspectives about life.

What are your career and/or transfer goals?

I will be transferring to UCLA and my career goals are to become a neuroscientist/ cognitive scientist and a neurologist.

Students and Alumni

Lorraine Limon

How did Saddleback help you achieve your long-term goals?

Attending Saddleback College prepared me to transfer to a university by learning how to balance my classes, extracurricular activities, homework and family time. It also gave me an opportunity to experience college life in my fifties.

What did you enjoy most about your time at Saddleback College?

I had amazing professors and advisors throughout my time at Saddleback College. In addition, I greatly enjoyed being the President of the honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma this past year 2019-2020 and also the Vice-President of the Environmental Awareness Club in 2018-2019. I love the campus and we planted a tree in honor of my son Christopher Limon who passed away nine years ago. My son Danny and I look forward to going back to sit under our family tree and have lunch in the quad.

What are your current plans?

I plan to transfer to UC Berkeley with my son, where I will start classes in the Spring of 2021. Just a semester behind Danny who started in Fall 2020. It still feels surreal that we are both going to transfer to the same amazing and prestigious university.

Lorraine Limon is pictured with her son, Daniel Limon. Both graduated from Saddleback in 2020 and transferred to UC Berkeley.

Students and Alumni

Adam Brownell

Major at Saddleback College?

Double majoring in Political Science and Philosophy.

How do you feel Saddleback is helping you achieve your long-term goals?

The students and professors at Saddleback College welcomed me into the community and opened my eyes to opportunities I had not yet visualized. My biggest takeaway, however, has been the ability to use logic, reason, and critical analysis. As a result, I am one step closer to formulating my goals, my beliefs, and my purpose.

What do you enjoy most about your time at Saddleback College?

My time at Saddleback College has exceeded expectations. The countless hours spent rehearsing with our barbershop quartet are some of my favorite memories, and the relationships I have managed to build with students and professors are life-long. Additionally, our monthly all-ASG meetings have helped me retain my sanity throughout this pandemic.

“The best decision I ever made at Saddleback was to get involved on campus.”

Are you involved in athletics, arts, clubs/organizations on campus?

The best decision I ever made at Saddleback was to get involved on campus. I immersed myself in ASG, Choir, Barbershop Quartet, Phi Theta Kappa, and Pre-Law Society!

What are your career goals?

I intend to pursue a legal education with the end goal of practicing criminal law. My dream job is to work for the Innocence Project, reforming the criminal justice system, and exonerating the wrongfully convicted.

Adam Brauer

What was your major?

I was an economics major and I transferred to UC Berkeley in spring 2017.

What did you enjoy most about Saddleback?

I loved being in the classroom and being around other people who loved to learn. The very first day we discussed topics that I actually cared about. I needed more and began attending college full-time during what would have been my junior year of high school.

What are you doing now?

I live in San Francisco and continue to work in technology as an Account Executive at a digital marketing startup called Iterable. Attending Saddleback College was the best personal investment I've made. It inspired me not only to love learning but to trust that I could come to love doing so at an institution with like-minded peers. Saddleback has prepared me impeccably for such a lifetime of discovery and fulfillment that my gratitude is poorly expressed by these mere words.

Hayley Perrault

What is your major?

Automotive Technology

How do you feel Saddleback is helping you achieve your long-term goals?

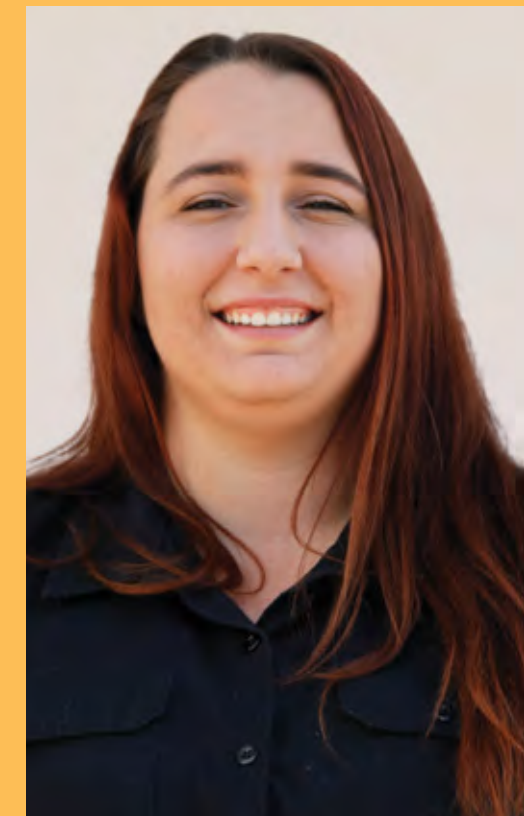

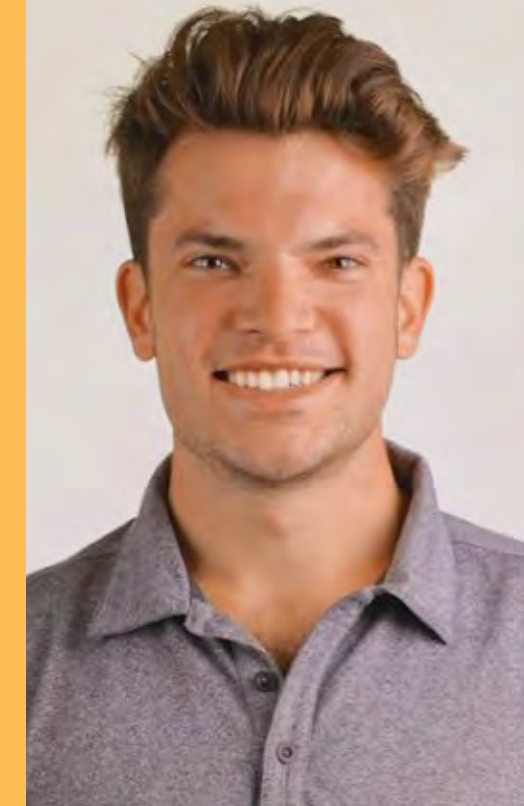

Saddleback has allowed me to broaden my horizons with what I am learning in class and helping me achieve my goals at work by allowing me to work toward promotions and work my way up the ladder.

What do you enjoy most about your time at Saddleback College?

My favorite thing I have experienced thus far at Saddleback is the teachers. The instructors I have are helpful and flexible and always there when needed.

What are your career goals?

My career goals are to start a custom car business and to own a shop where I can teach basic automotive skills to those who do not have access to classes near them. My estimated graduation is May 2021.
